Technology is so advanced these days. Imagine events unfolding in any remote part of the world being broadcasted to you at your home. The similar type of concepts can also be used to monitor activities at a remote production site location sitting in your office.

If you are keen to keep an eye on your office operations while being out of reach, CompuBrainTM helps you monitor your site using IP based Camera and an internet connection at your end.

This can help fight stealing, monitoring activities and identifying problems which otherwise go unnoticed depending upon the extent of the situation.

CompuBrainTM will provide you all the help in considering IP Camera to keep a constant vigil on things happening around and away from you.
